AUTHOR'S PREFACE

The Chennai Government Museum has a fairly good collection of medals. The Victoria crosses, the Mysore Medals, the French medals etc., to mention are some of them. There are not many books on medals. So, I thought that I should write a catalogue of the medals in the collection of the Museum, which I hope will be useful for scholars and others who are interested in the study of medals.

I thank Dr. Satyamurti, the Director of Museums for his encouragement in my work. I also take this opportunity to thank Thiru N. Harinarayana, the Director of Museums, Thiru M. Raman, I.A.S., Thiru T.R. Ramaswamy, I.A.S., and Thiru M. Ramu, I.A.S., who have encouraged me. I thank Tmt. R. Santhi the present Curator of Numismatic section with preparation of the book.

I am thankful to Thiru K. Dhennadhayalan, I.A.S., Commissioner of Museums and Dr. N. Devasahayam who work responsible in bringing out this book.

FOREWARD

The numismatic section with its gallery is known for its study, interpretation and research on the available coins including these in the reserve, through its valuable and scholarly research catalogues and bulletins, all these years. In this small booklet, the author Dr. N. Sankaranarayana, who served as the Curator for Numismatics for a couple of years, tries to bring out the inter disciplinary features in the study of history and numismatics through medals of important groups, i.e. British, Mysore tigers and French colonies in a simple and lucid way for the benefit of the readers especially the students of history and archaeology. It is a rare publication on medals exclusively at present, not available in other Indian museums. The medals apart from other treasure trove items such as coins, jewelleryes and bronzes, add additional information and serve as original source materials for indepth study and scholarly persuits by the present day generation.

I heartily congratulate the author Dr. N. Sankaranarayan for the valuable time spent in bringing out this excellent research monograph on medals and wish him a long life, with many more successful endeavours of this kind.

I also appreciate the efforts taken up by Thirumathi R. Santhi, the present Curator for Numismatics for going through the proof correction and helping in bringing out this bulleting from the Government Press, right on time

INTRODUCTION

The performance of individuals in any field, whether it is in education or administration is not uniform. It is always likely that one individual performs a task better than another. It is only to distinguish this quality and to give encouragement to the deserving ones that prizes and medals were instituted. This practice of conferring distinction has been in vogue from very early times. In Greek times and the Roman Period, laurel wreath was used for this purpose. In the days of Chivalry the coloured shield and plumed helmet were employed. "Over the centuries the medal has become universal mark by which services are rewarded and participation in certain events are indicated"¹.

The awards are given in the name of the Sovereign in monarchies and in the name of the government in other countries. Medals are of two kinds and they are decoration medals and commemoration medals. The decoration medals are awarded for acts of gallantry in wars. The commemoration medals are issued to commemorate some events.

DECORATION MEDALS:

Each country has its own gallantry awards or decorations. Param Vir Chakra, Mahavir Chakra, Ashoka Chakra etc. are some of the decoration medals awarded for acts of gallantry by the Government of India. Victoria Cross, the U.S. Medal of honour and the French Medaille Militaire are medals awarded by Britain, United States of America and France. The East India Company conducted a number of Military compaigns in Punjab, Burma, Nepal Afghanistan, Mysore etc. It honoured their services and distinction in their compaigns with decorations.

1. Encyclopediā Britanica

The pre-eminent decoration awarded by the British Government is the Victoria Cross founded by Queen Victoria in 1856 as an award open to all ranks of the army and to navy without distinction who distinguished themselves by gallantry of an outstanding nature. "The decoration is in the form of a cross pattee bearing a royal crest (a lion standing on a crown) above a scroll inscribed. "For Valour" The crosses are individually forged and are made from guns captured from the Russians in the Crimean War². The premier Americal award for Gallantry is the congressional Medal of Honour. This was introduced during the Americal Civil war (1861-65) for outstanding, bravery.

In India, the gallantry awards are Param Vir Chakra, Mahavir Chakra, Ashoka Chakra etc. Among gallantry awards the Param Vir Chakra Mahavir Chakra (M.Vc.) and Vir Chakra (Vr.c) occupy the top three positions. The Param Vir Chakra medal is made of bronze. The Chakra is awarded for most conspicuous bravery or some daring or pre-eminent act of Valour of self sacrifice, in the presence of the enemy, whether on land, at sea or in the air.

The Maha Vir Chakra is made of standard silver. The Chakra is awarded for acts of conspicuous gallantry in the presence of enemy whether on lands, at sea or in the air.

The Vir Chakrs is made of standard silver. The Chakra is awarded for acts of gallantry in the presence of the enemy, whether on land, at sea or air.³

Commemoration Medals:

Medals are also issued to commemorate important events like coronation, inauguration, centenary, exhibitions, jubilees, discoveries etc.

When Captain Cook set out on his voyage of discovery in A.D. 1772, he carried a quantity of bronze medals which he gave the natives of the newly discovered islands as evidence of British discovery.⁴ It appears two were struck in gold, 106 in silver and a large number in bronze, billon and brass. The gold and silver medals were used as presentation to the people connected with the voyage and others distributed to natives. Twenty two finds have been reported, seven in Newzealand and three in British Oceania⁵ Medals were issued to mark the coronations, Inaguration, exhibition visit etc.⁶ A Medal was issued to mark the coronation of Queen Victoria. In this medal, is depicted the obverse, the bust of Queen Victoria and a legend which reads "Victoria proclaimed Queen of the British Empire" 21 June 1837" On the reverse of the medal, there is a legend which reads, "Crowned 26 June 1838". A very beautiful medal was issued to mark the inauguration of the East India Railway. On the obverse of this medal is depicted the bust of Queen Victoria and on the reverse, the details regarding the Chief Engineer, viceroy the date etc. Visits of Kings, princes and other dignitaries are commemorated with the issue of medals, Scientists, musicians and others are honoured with the issue of medals, commemorating their achievements. The visit of the American "Great white Fleet" in 1908 was marked by a 25mm medal in silver and aluminium. On the obverse is shown the Newzealand and American flags crossed and the inscription, in commemoration of the American Fleet's visit to the Dominion of Newzealand 1908. The reverse showed a fine view of the warship.

FRENCH MEDALS OF 1848 REVOLUTION

In the wake of Revolution in France in 1848, a large quantity of medals was issued in France. In the words of S.A. Fairbairn these medals of 1848" are devoid of beauty and varitey". Because of their ugliness and commonness, they have been despised by the amateur and it is to the student of history rather than to artist these medals make their appeals, wrote Fairbairn in his intersting and informative paper.⁷

According to the learned author, the French medals of 1848 provide in the most complete numismatic record in existence of any single period in history. The medals were issued in hundreds. The majority of them are crude white metal casts or strikings. No event of importance, hardly a meeting, a speech or a procession escaped the Medallists' attention. The whole history of that eventful year was written in copper, tin and lead. They constitute a series of political records or Satiles and aphorisms published in metal.⁸

The French medals of 1848, produced in large quantity throw a flood of light on the political and social aspects of the period. The medals depicted, political demonstration, public trial of strength of parties, womens club etc. The French medals of 1848 constitute a veritable source for the study of political history, valuable material for the social scientist to reconstruct the social aspect of the society during that period.

Architectural Medals:

Another variety of medal which belong to early period (Early centuries of the Christian Era) provides interesting information on the architecture of temples, bridges, Stadium etc and these medals may be termed architectural medals. We may quote here Donaldson⁹ an authority on the subject, "Another source of information is ancient coins and medals which frequently represent upon the reverse some building, the erection of which they are designed to commemorate".

It was the practice to issue medals to commemorate the erection of the temple, stadium, arches, bridges, etc. On one of the sides of the medal a miniature model of the temple, bridge, stadium or arch is depicted. The miniature model of the edifice whether it is a temple or a bridge give minute details of the edifice to commemorate which the medal had been issued. They give more details than Photograph of the edifice. A close examination of the medals can provide a wealth of information on the architectural achievements. Though the edifices, whether temples or bridges have disappeared in the course of centuries, these medals can give an idea of how they were looking in the days of their glory.

A NOTE SOME MEDALS IN THE COLLECTION OF THE CHENNAI MUSEUM

There are two hundred and ninety medals in the collection of the Madras Government Museum. They include both decoration medals and commemoration medals. Some of the medals in the Collection are rare ones and have historical importance. In this chapter a brief account of some of the important medals are given.

Deccan:

The medal commonly known as "Deccan" was issued to native troops only and it is the earliest Anglo-Indian decoration granted to all. It is said that the troubles in the west of India, Gujarat and Carnatic made Warren Hastings to despatch two native detachments of the Bengal Army. The former's services spread over a period of years from 1778 to 1784 and those of the latter in the south of India for 1780-84¹.

On the obverse of the medal is depicted Britannia seated on a Military trophy consisting of a drum, spears, a flag, two cannons, a sword and three cannon balls. In the left hand, she is shown as holding a spear and at her right side the union shield. The translation of Persian inscription on the reverse of the medals, according to Tancred is, "the courage and exertions of these valiant men by whom the name of English men has been celebrated and exalted from Hindustan to Decan having been established through out the world, this has been granted by the Government of Calcutta, in commemoration of the excellent services of the brave; year of Helgira 1199-A.D. 1784. As coins are current in the world, so shall be bravery and exploits of these heroes by whom the victorious English Nation was carried from Bengal to the Decan."²

There is another medal, on the obverse of which is depicted a sepoy holding the union Jack in his right hand, a Persian inscription, of which Tancred gives the following translation, "This medal has been presented in commemoration of the defeat of the French armies in the kingdom of Egypt by the great bravery and ability of the victorious army of England. On the reverse is shown a man of war in full sail with an obelisk and pyramids in the background, exergue MDCCCI."³

Rodrigues, Bourbon and the Isle of France Medal:

On July 8, 1810 the troops under General Aber Crombie attacked the island of Bourbon, which after some resistance fell. On December 3, 1810, port ST. Louis Surrendered to the British Army and the Isle of Franch became a British possession and the name was reverted to old Dutan name of Mauritiu⁴.

On the obverse of the medal is shown a sepoy resting his left foot on a french standard, in his right hand he holds a union jack. On the reverse, a band inscribed Rodrigues, VI july MDCCCX.

In the centre is a Persian inscription within a laurel wreath, of which Tancred, gives the following translation. This medal was conferred in commemoration of the bravery and accustomed fidelity exhibited by the sepoys of the English Company in the capture of Mauritius Islands in the year, Hegira 1225.⁵

Mysore Medals:

The medals were awarded by the East India Company for services during the Mysore wars. On the obverse of the Mysore Medal of 1791-92, the figure of an English soldier is depicted, holding the British standard half unfurled, with a distance view of the fortifications of Seringapatam, and the following inscription in Persian, which reads, "Struck in the year 1791-92 (Corresponding with the Muhamadan Era 1202). Another Interesting Mysore medal, the Seringapatam medal of 1799 was distributed to soldiers and officers, both European and Indian. On one side of the medal is shown the storming of the breach of Seringapatnam from an actual drawing on the spot with the meridian sun denoting the time of the storming of the city and the Persian inscription which reads,

"The Fort of Serrangapattinam, the gift of God, the 4th May 1799, "underneath. On the other side of the medal is the British lion subduing the tiger, the emblem of Tipu Sultan, with the date of the conquest. The bronze medal showing Lord Cornwallis on one side and the surrender of Tipu's sons as hostages in another side is a beautiful piece.

Waterloo Medal 1815

The British medal awarded to soldiers who took part in the battle of Waterloo in 1815, was unique in several respects.⁶ It was the first official British medal issued to every officer and man entitled to it. Although known as Waterloo medal it was also awarded to soldiers who had taken part in the battles of Ligny and Quatre Bras, two days before the Waterloo. "On the obverse is shown a bust with the legend," George P. Regent and on the reverse is depicted, an angel with two wings with the inscription Wellington above and Waterloo below.

The other notable gallantry awards in the collection of the Museum include Afghan War medals Sikh war Nepal war Burmese war medals awarded for gallantry.

Medal showing the arrival of the king:

The Museum has in its collection a very beautiful lead medal. Its diameter is 8.3 cm In the medal is depicted a scene with people and a building with columns. Around the rim of the Medal (upper part) is a legend "ARRIVEE DURAI A PARIS" and below, the legend le 6 October 1789. The other side of the medal is blank.

Inauguration of Eastern Railway:

This medal is of bronze. Its diameter is 7 cm. On the obverse of the medal is an embossed bust of Queen Victoria. On the reverse at the centre is a legend which gives details about the Chief Engineer, the year of commencement of the project and other details. The Museum has a number of Medals commemorating the Agricultural, Horticultural, Industrial and Fisheries Exhibition held at Madras, Punjab, Nagpur, Roorkee, Burma and other places in the nineteenth century. Detailed account of other medals are given in the catalogue.

MEDALS - ARTISTIC PIECES AND RECORDS IN METAL

Medals constitute one of the sources of history. We have already seen how the French Medals of 1858 throw light on the Political, Social and Cultural conditions of France. Commemoration medals may be termed as records in metal. Dates and names of the place where fighting took place are given in the medals. Sikh war medal and Frontier war medals, may be cited as examples. The discoveries of new continents and the details concerning them are seen in the medals. Similarly minor historical events like jubilees and agriculture, horticulture, fisheries and industrial exhibition are known from medals. The Medals issued to commemorate Eastern Railway, gives minute details of the historian who writes the history of Railways. Similarly visits of distinguished persons to places are known after the lapse of many years by seeing a medal issued to commemorate it. Like this, we can cite a number of cases of how medals constitute one of the sources of history.

Some of the medals are very beautiful and can be considered pieces of art. The architectural medals which were discussed in the earlier chapter can be cited as evidence. A critical examination of the medals, issued during the reign of Victoria Proves that great care was taken while depicting the Portraits. In some of the war medals the armies are depicted on the medals. Even a casual observation of these medals will convince that the medalists had taken great care to show the movement of the army. In the way the horse are depicted and soldiers holding the weapons. In the large medal depicting the arrival of the King in Paris, the engraver has shown his mastery over this medium by showing the street scene. The study of medals issued over the centuries by itself may form a distinct discipline.

The medals are historical records in metal and minor artistic pieces.
